PUBLISHED TO-DAY.

The Highest Andes

By EDWARD A. FITZ GERALD, F.R.G.S. With 40 full-page illustrations, 10 of them in photogravure, and a map. Large 8vo, $6.00 net.

Mr. Fitz Gerald here tells of his ascent of the loftiest mountain ever climbed, and of other thrilling experiences in his South American adventures. The book is also extremely valuable from the scientific side, its appendices containing a wealth of exact information regarding these great altitudes. The pictures which were made during the climb, are especially pertinent and interesting.

For the Freedom of the Sea

A Romance of the War of 1812. By CYRUS TOWNSEND BRADY. With 12 fullpage illustrations. 12mo, $1.50.

A new romance, by the author of "For Love of Country," dealing with events supposed to have taken place in the War of 1812 and picturing some of the most dramatic and thrilling scenes in American naval history. NO LONGER A TERMINAL.

TROLLEY COMPANY ABANDONS SOUTH

EIGHTH-ST. WITHOUT NOTICE. The abandonment yesterday by the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company of the terminal at South Eighth-st., formerly used by the cars of the Nassau line, without notice to the patrons of the road, caused some complaint. About two years ago President Johnson of the Nassau company acquired a lot in South Eighth-st. in the rear of the Cariton Hotel, and constructed a loop there. By arrangement with the owners, passengers were allowed to use the hotel in travelling between the cars and ferry.

President Rossiter has for a long time looked with disfavor upon this terminal, and early yesterday all cars were sent down Broadway to the ferry, the Nassau cars occupying the north side of the street. The lines affected by the change are the Hamburg-ave. Marcy-ave. Liberty-ave. Hamilton Ferry, Manhattan Beach and Coney Island and Canarsie. The mail cars now running from the General Postoffice to Greenpoint and to Bast New-York will continue to run in South Eighth-st.

The change is not liked by those who use either Broadway or South Eighth-st. There are now seventeen lines at the end of Broadway, and many believe that the condition of affairs existing in lower Fulton-st. will be duplicated there.

Superintendent Wheatley said that the change had been effected to accommodate the patrons of the road better, and to save the long walk from Broadway to South Eighth-st. that the passengers of the Twenty-third-st, ferry were compelled to take. He also said that the reason no notice had been given, as usual, was that it had been found comparatively few people read these notices or paid any attention to them. terday all cars were sent down Broadway to the

CAKE WALK FOLLOWED BY A FIGHT.

THE WINNER BREAKS A HEAVY CANE OVER HIS WIFE'S HEAD.

Hempstead, Long Island, Dec. 1.—The colored waiters employed by St. Paul's Cathedral School at Garden City, gave a cake walk last night and early this morning there was trouble. Many of the students and at least fifty well known society persons saw the display. The cake was won by James Barton, a waiter at the Garden City Golf Club's house. He walked with Miss Bertha Smith. Mrs. Barton appears to have been jealous, and after a quarrel Barton broke the heavy cane he had been twirling across his wife's head. A bad scalp wound was inflicted. Dr. Finn, who had been acting as one of the judges at the walk, sewed up the cut. Mrs. Barton's fancy cake walk sewed up the cut. Mrs. Barton's fancy cake walk dress was covered with blood and the affair created a sensation. Barton and some friends left the hall and disappeared. He has not been found. Barton and his wife are conspicuous as "well dressers," and the trouble between them is said to have been caused by Barton's selecting Miss Smith as his companion, leaving his wife to walk with another man. Together the Barton's were considered sure winners of the cake, and when her husband won without her some of Mrs. Barton's friends began to twit her and say that it was her husband's walking which had won before. She had considered half the credit, at least, hers, and this angered her. Then the scene came and then the blow. The affair occurred about 4 o'clock this morning after most of the white people had left.

M'KENNA'S JURY DISAGREED.

FIRST OF THE INDICTED OFFICIALS PUT ON TRIAL IN LONG ISLAND CITY.

Joseph McKenna, who was chief clerk of the Water Department of Long Island City when Patrick J. Gleason was Mayor, was placed on trial yesterday in Long Island City upon an indictment charging him with misappropriating $8,000 of the funds of the Department. The jury which heard the evidence against him failed to agree. The indictment was found as a result of the investigation of the books of the Department made by experts from Controller Coler's office.

On Monday the trial of Joseph Bernel, of Newon Monay the trial of Joseph Bernel, of New-town, upon charges of having audited a bill al-leged to be fraudulently offered and of having converted money illegally, will be called. The case against Joseph Glasser, at present deputy surrogate, for presenting the bill for auditing which Mr. Bernel is accused of wrongdoing, will follow.

There is much uneasiness because of these indictments, in view of the fact that the November Grand Jury, whose term the started has not adjourned, but is to continue its sittings into the present month. All the ordinary business of the term has been disposed of, so it is certain that extraordinary matter is to be presented when the Grand Jury meets again on Monday.

THE CORONER PUZZLED BY CONFLICT-ING STATEMENTS ABOUT IT.

DECOMPOSITION HAD SET IN WHEN THE BODY WAS FOUND-THE HUSBAND

CANNOT BE SEEN. Discrepancies in connection with the discovery yesterday morning of the body of Mrs. Mary J. Wernberg, wife of J. A. Wernberg, at one time Assistant District Attorney under General Isaac S. Catlin, and now a leading member of the Brooklyn bar, are attracting the attention of the authorities, and Coroner's Physician Emil E. Hartung is now trying to find out just how and when Mrs. Wernberg died. Mr. and Mrs. Wernberg have for several years occupied two adjoining rooms in the Lafay-ette-ave, boarding house of Mrs. Juliette Leverich, It has been their custom to take their meals out-side, and Mrs. Leverich and her servant, Maggie Hanley, have not been accustomed to watching the movements of the Wernbergs closely. However, Mrs. Leverich and her servant agree in stating that Mrs. Wernberg died as the result of gas asphyxiation due to an open burner on a gas jet in her bedroom on the second floor. An attempt was made to see Mr. Wernberg, but he is said to have been made ill by the discovery of the death of his wife, and he declined to be seen regarding the matter. Even the other members of his law firm at No. 367 Fulton-st., Brooklyn, asked to be excused from making any statements about the subject at this time. It was Mr. Wernberg himself who informed the Coroner's Physician of the death of his wife.

The most peculiar thing is the fact that Mrs. Leverich, the proprietor of the boarding house, and her servant are positive that Wernberg was with his wife Thanksgiving night. In view of the and her servant are positive that Wernberg was with his wife Thanksgiving night. In view of the statement of Coroner's Physician Hartung, who examined the body yesterday afternoon, that death had occurred at least forty-eight hours previous to the time that he was informed, the authorities think that both the landlady and her servant are mistaken regarding the time when Mr. Wernberg was last seen with his wife. Dr. Hartung says that decomposition had already set in on the body before it was discovered.

Until Mr. Wernberg recovers from the shock caused by the death of his wife, and is able to make a statement throwing additional light upon the subject, the approximate time of Mrs. Wernberg's death must apparently remain a mystery. The landlady says she had a talk on Tuesday night with Mrs. Wernberg and that the lawyer's wife at that time conversed in a happy mood about Thanksgiving. Mrs. Leverich says that her tenant told her that she expected to spend Thanksgiving with her sister, a Miss Rellly, who also lives in Brooklyn.

The bedroom occupied by Mrs. Wernberg contained only one window, and when Mrs. Leverich and her servant forced the door open yesterday they assert they were momentarily driven back by the gas fumes, but they soon succeeded in gaining an entrance and opening the window for the admission of air. After that Mr. Wernberg was informed, but in the excitement no one thought to tell the police. When Mr. Wernberg was informed, but in the excitement no one thought to tell the police. When Mr. Wernberg arrived and found his wife's body he at once informed the Coroner. Mrs. Wernberg lay on the bed attired in a house gown. Mrs. Leverich says that it looked as if she had simply thrown herself on the bed for the purpose of taking a nap.

Mrs. Wernberg is said to be a daughter of Philip Relly, of Brooklyn. It is said also that she was married to her husband twenty-two years ago. She was forty-five years old, and was an extremely handsome woman. She had been in the hands of a doctor for some time, and had s

AN ORDER TO APPEAR IN SUPPLEMENTARY PROCEEDINGS GRANTED AND A

HOT FIGHT EXPECTED. Justice Wilmot M. Smith, of the Supreme Court, yesterday granted an order requiring ex-Mayor Patrick J. Gleason of Long Island City to appear in court this morning and answer in supplementary proceedings as to his ability to pay a judgment for $2.250 obtained against him by Anthony S. Wood, who was captain of police in Long Island City, in a suit for slander. When Gleason was defeated for Mayor he refused to vacate the office he had held for years, and Captain Woods helped to put him out. Two years later, when Gleason was re-elected, he delivered a speech from the front of the City Hall, in which he berated Captain Woods because Captain Woods sued for damages, and obtained Captain Woods sued for damages, and obtained a verdict. Mr. Gleason went to Albahy and had the jail limits for judgment debtors extended from their old limits, which allowed simply exercise about the prison, to include the confines of Queens County. It was said at the time of his release from this confinement that he would probably be called upon to show cause why he should not pay anyhow. The application for the order yesterday was made by Captain Woods's counsel. It is proposed to examine the ex-Mayor before the court or a referee as to his financial ability to pay the debt, and if he is found not to be in possession of the money needful heavill be called upon to show the disposition of his funds. It is expected that he will make a hard fight against paying, as he thinks the law has been satisfied by his remaining under arrest to the period corresponding to the amount of which the hidsment calls for. rest for the period corresponding to the amoun money which the judgment calls for,

MR. WOODRUFF'S LUNCHEON.

LEGISLATORS AND OTHERS TO BE ENTER-TAINED AT THE MONTAUK CLUB.

Lieutenant Governor Timothy L. Woodruff will and some of the leading Republican politicians of Kings County at a luncheon to be given at the Montauk Club this afternoon at 1 o'clock, after which there will be a conference and general discussion on the subject of legislation which may come up in Albany this winter. Among those who have been invited to the conference are Senators Henry Marshall and David F. Davis, Assemblymenelect John H. Morgan, Charles Cotton, Abram C. De Graw, J. Harvey Waite, Frank Price, Edward C. Brennan, Harris Wilson, Jacob D. Remsen and Joseph Adams and the following executive members of the Kings County General Committee: Michael of the Kings County General Committee: Michael
J. Dady, George H. Roberts, fr., A. T. Hobley,
Jesse D. Frost, Naval Officer Robert A. Sharkey, Walter A. Atterbury, Records Commissioner George
E. Waldo and Appraiser Israel F. Fischer. Register-elect Howe has also been invited.
It is said that the matters for possible legislation to be considered will include the construction of a new bridge over the East River, according to a bill introduced last winter by Assembly man Brennan;
the separation of the Elections Bureau from the Police Board, the abolishing of the fee system in county offices, the proposed bill for a State constabulary and needed changes in the Greater New-York Charter.

SEXTON SUSPENDED BY THE NECK.

CAUGHT BY A TRAPDOOR IN THE BELFRY, HE ASCRIBES HIS ESCAPE TO PRAYER.

Hempstead, Long Island, Dec. 1.-C. H. Amberman is suffering from a badly strained neck as the result of hanging in the belfry of the Methodist Episcopal Church yesterday. Mr. Amberman, who is sexton, went to the beifry to make some repairs, and when he started to descend he slipped pairs, and when he started to descend he slipped and would have fallen to the lower floor had not the trapdoor fallen with him and caught him by the neck and wedged him against the hatchway. Amberman's hands were below the trapdoor, his feet were dangling in the air and his breath was cut off. He prayed to heaven for help, and as he was about to give up in despair one of his feet found a resting place and hope revived. He set his foot firmly, and managed to summon strength enough to force his head up a little and open the trapdoor again. He believed that his prayer was answered, and he bowed his head and gave thanks to God for sparing his life.

SHERIFF CREAMER PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

ARRAIGNED BEFORE JUDGE THOMAS AND RE-LEASED ON HIS OWN RECOGNIZANCE.

Sheriff Frank D. Creamer yesterday appeared before Judge Thomas in the United States Court and pleaded not guilty to an indictment which was found against him by the United States Grand account of the seizure by his deputies on a writ of replevin of some goods which were in the custody of the United States Marshal. Indictments were also found against the two deputy sheriffs who made the seizure and against the attorney for the plaintiffs of the writ. Sheriff Creamer's bond was fixed yesterday at $1,000, but Judgs Thomas released him on his own recognizance. The other indicted men did not appear. It is said that they are liable, if convicted, to imprisonment for one year and a fine of $300. a writ of replevin of some goods which were in the and a fine of $300

The death of Garret A. Hobart has removed from a place of National prominence New-Jersey's foremost citizen, one who occupied the second highest office in the gift of the people in such a way as to elevate it to an importance which previously had not inhered in the Vice-Presidency. In looking over the past it is seen that the more than the three other minority candidates received. Theodore Frelinghuysen, of New-Jersey, a Whig, was nominated in 1844 on the ticket with Henry Clay, but was defeated, receiving 105

Electoral votes to 170 for Polk and Dallas. General Winfield Scott, of New-Jersey, was the Whig candidate against Franklin Pierce in 1852, but received only 42 Electoral votes, out of 296.

William L. Dayton, of New-Jersewy, on the Whig ticket with Frémont, in 1856, received 114 votes, against 174 for Buchanan and Breckinridge In 1864, with the Civil War at its height, General George B. McClellan, of New-Jersey, headed the Democratic ticket, but as against Abraham Lincoln received only 21 votes out of 233. Clinton B. Fisk, of New-Jersey, headed the Prohibition ticket for the Presidency, but received no Electoral votes, Harrison and Cleveland, in the proportion respectively of 233 to 168, having gathered up the entire Electoral College. The next appearance of New-Jersey in the list was Garret A. Hobart, of New-Jersey, as the running mate to William McKinley, winning easily with 271 votes, a majority of 95 over Bryan and Arthur Sewall. In the Vice-Presidential office, Aaron Burr, the third in chronological order, a Republican (Anti-Federalist or modern Democrat) in politics, was born in New-Jersey, but lived in New-York, at the town is doomed unless the guilty parties are apprehended.

Last night they burned the large barn belonging to John Hall, a farmer living near the town. The firebugs also intended to start two other big blazes in the heart of the town last night. A large quantity of olied waste had been placed under the Three Briages Creamery by them, but it was discovered before the flends could fire the building. The general store of Joseph Dilts was also marked to go up in flames. A large quantity of kerosene oil had been poured about the building and preparations had been made to fire it from underneath. Last spring Dilts's store was destroyed by fire of incendiary origin, and his family barely escaped with their lives.

The villagers are afraid to retire at night, and some member of each family remains awake to guard their property. A woman's footprints were discovered leading from Hall's barn, which was burned last night, and many believe that there is a woman in the gang.

AN ASSIGNEE REMOVED.

William J. Linahan, a lawyer who has acted as assignee of the estate of May J. Brown, at Newark, was removed by Judge Fort, at Newark, yesterday, and James R. Brown was appointed in his place. Linahan, as trustee, paid $250 out of the estate to a mortgage loan company in settle-ment for a loan of $306, although Mrs. Brown had already paid $154.86 on the loan. Judge Fort gave an order directing that the loan company should receive interest only, and this order was disre-garded by Linahan. The latter was taken into custody yesterday and paroled to appear next Monday. Monday.

Prudential Building in Bank-st., Newark, struck yesterday. There was no grievence other than the fact that the Housesmiths' Union in New-York is demanding an increase of pay from $2.80 to $2.80 a day, and Post & McCord, of New-York, the contractors for the iron work for the building, are among the firms holding out.

The strike was partly sympathetic and partly to get the benefit of the increase demanded. A walking delegate from the New-York union brought about the strike. Charles R. Dedden, the general contractor for the building, said that the strike would not greatly embarrass onerations. It might continue two months and not materially retard the completion of the building. the fact that the Housesmiths' Union in New-York

Hoboken, who interrupted the proceedings of the Town Council two weeks ago by excitedly making a speech, in the course of which he referred to a speech, in the course of which he referred to Mayor George Bergkamp as a "highway robber," has issued a public apology for his utterances in the form of a letter addressed to the Mayor. Mr.
Mailbeck said that his words were wholly unwarranted and he regretted having used them.
Mr. Hergkamp has accepted the apology, and has dissoutinued civil proceedings to recover 10,000 from Mr. Maulbeck for slander, and has also abandoned criminal proceedings, which he brought against the surveyor for criminal libel.

DISSENSIONS CONTINUE, AND NO ONE SEEMS TO WANT THE CHAIRMANSHIP.

The primaries to elect delegates to the Republican Committee in Hudson County will be held next Wednesday night. There may be an effort in some of the wards of Jersey City to put an oppo-sition ticket in the field, as concessions have been made to the opponents of the machine in a few instances, and precinct primaries have been allowed through the instrumentality of Counsellor lowed through the instrumentality of Counsellor Flavel McGee. Mr. McGee is the choice of many for chairman, but it is not probable that he will accept, although his election would contribute largely to a revival of interest in party affairs, as he has always advocated fair play.

Michael Schultz, ir., treasurer of the committee, has been urged to become a candidate, but he has frankly avowed that he can only accept on one condition, and that is that he will be chairman in fact as well as in name, and have the support of the sub-committees. This declaration will undoubtedly cause his defeat if those who have ruled the committee are successful at the primaries.

Colonel Dickinson has been invited to accept the chairmanship, but has declined, and has announced that his choice is Edward W. Woolley, the present chairman. Woolley has refused to announce whether he will be a candidate for re-election, and has reserved decision until after the primaries. It is said that Sectetary John J. Erwin, who was the candidate for Sheriff and has induiged liberally in criticism of the support given the ticket by the machine element, will be defeated for re-election as secretarry if the machine can accomplish it. It looks as if the dissensions will continue for another year. State of New-Jersey has been well represented in the field of aspiration and election to Na-

OBITUARY.

MAXIMILIAN TRABOLD.

Orange, Dec. 1 (Special) .- Maximilian Trabold, who was formerly the largest hat manufacturer in the Orange hatting district, died last night from heart disease at the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Julius Trabold, at No. 59 Henry-st., Orange, after only a few hours' critical illness. He was born in Baden, Germany, in 1833, and came to this country in 1854. He began the manufacture of hats in Orange in a small way, gradually extending his operations till he was doing a large business in partnership with his brother, Julius Trabold, and Leopold Wagner. He gave up manufacturing in 1879, and since then was employed as a foreman in a number of large establishments. During the War of the Rebellion he served in the 52d New-York Regiment, and at the close of the war he organized Company A. 5th New-Jersey Regiment, which was a part of the Federal Guard which preceded the organization of the State National Guard. He was prominent in local affairs, and served one term as a member of the Orange Common Council. He married twice, and is survived by his second wife.

The funeral will be held in St. Venantius's Church, to-morrow morning at 3 o'clock. came to this country in 1854. He began the manu-

JUSTUS MORRIS.

Elizabeth, Dec. 1 (Special).—Justus Morris, seventy-seven years old, for many years a well known litician in Union County, died this afternoon or his farm in Linden Township. Mr. Morris owned much valuable property in Elizabeth and Linden. He served several terms as Freeholder, and in politics was a stalwart Republican. For many years he was engaged in the real estate business, in which he made the larger part of his money. Then he turned farmer, and had been for over ten years engaged in agricultural pursuits. He was twice married, and leaves a widow and a son—A. Hamilton Morris, by his first marriage. The whereabouts of this son is unknown.

Mr. Morris started in life as a boss painter, and during the Civil War was a bounty broker, in which occupation he made considerable money. It is not known whether or not he made a will.

Several years ago he was engaged to be married to a young woman of Elizabeth, and the day was set for the ceremony. All the preparations had been made for the wedding, but he became sick the day before, and the marriage had to be postponed. When he recovered he refused to marry the girl, and she sued him for $20.000 damages. The case was settled by a compromise, and afterward Mr. Morris married his housekeeper.

JEALOUS HUSBAND KILLS HIS WIFE.

SHOOTS HER AS SHE RETURNS HOME FROM &

COLORED BALL WITH AN ADMIRER. Mary Nealey, a colored woman, was shot down and instantly killed in the street in Jersey City early yesterday by her jealous husband, William Lewis Nealey. The Nealeys lived at No. 55 Jordan-He is thirty years old and a longshoreman. She was twenty-eight years old. The husband learned recently that Gamaliel Brewster was a frequent visitor at his home, and there was a scene last Sunday night, it is said, when he returned un-last Sunday night, it is said, when he returned unexpectedly and found Brewster embracing Mrs. Nealey. The irate husband then fired a shot, but it went wide.

On Thursday night Mrs. Nealey accompanied Brewster to a colored ball. They returned home after 4 o'clock yesterday morning. Nealey was waiting on the sidewalk near his home when his wife and Brewster approached. The latter, to avoid confronting the enraged husband, left Mrs. Nealey a block from her home. When Nealey met his wife, without a word of warning he pulled out his pistol and fired. The first shot missed her, and the affrighted woman shrieked, "Go away, Lew". He fired again, and the second shot pierced her heart. She extended her arms as if to plead with him and sank lifeless to the pavement.

Policeman Murray, who heard the reports of the murdered woman's body removed to the Morgue. Nealey was remanded for examination by Justice Nevin. An inquest will be ordered by the County Physician. The Nealeys had been married five years.

DETERMINED TO CLEAN THE STREETS.

HARRINGTON BRINGS HIS ASH CARTS, SWEEPERS AND SPRINKLERS BEFORE MAYOR HOOS.

A novel and amusing parade was witnessed in Jersey City yesterday. Forty ash carts and half a dozen sweeping machines and street sprinklers in working garb. The parade went over the leading business thoroughfares and halted at the City Hail, where two indignant contractors. Thomas Harrington and his son, James, who had led the procession, jumped from their buggy and went into the Municipal Building and had an audience with Mayor Hoos.

the Municipal Building and had an audience with Mayor Hoos.

The Harringtons presented bids for cleaning the streets and removing the ashes and garbage. The son was the lowest bidder. The Street and Water Board ignored his proposal and awarded the contract to Henry Byrne, who has the contract for the present year. The explanation made for the discrimination was that Byrne's work had been satisfactory and that he had the best facilities for doing the work.

It was the reflection on his lack of equipment that excited the wrath of Harrington, and he arranged the parade and brought all his carts that could be spared from New-York. The Harringtons had an earnest talk with the Mayor and induced him to inspect their facilities for cleaning the streets. The Harringtons threaten to appeal to the courts if the contract is not given to the younger member of the firm.

FOUND MURDERED AT A BARN DOOR.

THE YOUNG WOMAN BELIEVED TO BE THE VIC-TIM OF A NEGRO, WHO HAS ESCAPED.

Trenton, Dec. 1 (Special) .- The residents of Yardville, a village near here, are looking for Edgar Williams, a colored farm hand, and they threaten to lynch him if caught. He is accused of the murder of Minnie Eyzley, a servant at the home of der of Minnie Eyzley, a servant at the home of William White, a farmer, in whose employ Williams has been for fifteen years.

The woman was found dead this morning in the doorway of White's barn. Her skull was crushed in and a bloody stick lay near the body. The White family left their home for Thanksgiving and did not return till late at night.

In the evening Williams had been in this city drinking heavily. The woman apparently made a great struggle against the negro, and the officials say that her success in this cost her her life, williams did not know that his blows were fatal, and this morning went to work on a neighboring farm, but when he learned of the woman's death he made his escape. All the county officials are engaged on the case.

WARDEN AND MATRON OUSTED.

Sheriff Virtue of Essex County took official charge of the county jail in Newark yesterday and installed his newly appointed warden and and installed his newly appointed warden and matron. A formal protest was made by Warden Underhill, who, with Matron Bovet, left under an agreement by which is was understood that they were fercibly ousted. Alderman Ferdinand Hosp and wife, of Newark, the new warden and matron, immediately took charge of the jail. The Board of Freeholders will, it is understood, reappoint Underhill, and the question of the control of the jail will be fought in the courts.

FOUND DEAD IN HIS BED.

Elizabeth, Dec. 1 (Special).-John Hensley, a well known business man of Lyons Farms, where he for several years had been engaged in the flour and grain trade, committed suicide on Thanksgiving Day by shooting himself in the heart while lying in bed at his home.

Day by shooting himself in the heart while lying in bed at his home.

When his wife went to call him for breakfast she was horrified to find him a corpse, and the pistol lightly grasped in his hand.

Mr. Hensley was thirty-five years old, and one of the leading members of the Lyons Farms Baptist Church. Several years ago he married a Miss Fisher, of Waverly, but the couple had no children. His domestic life, it is said, was happy, and he had not met with any financial reverses, so far as is known. Some time ago his mind was slightly deranged, but he recovered from this trouble. It is believed another attack of temporary insanity came upon him and caused his act.

County Physician Westcott made an investigation, and said it was a case of deliberate suicide.
